Our team is comprised of dedicated individuals that play critical roles in the investment process. We are structured to provide detailed due diligence, business development, sales and marketing and sales support. We use other talented people for website design and management, administrative support and accounting services.

Rene Burke, President and CEO Rene holds an MBA, executive option, from the University of Calgary. Her background includes 20 years in the telecommunications industry, consulting for the not-for-profit and private sectors and most recently as a Vice President for a Market Research company. Her passion is to find and invest in high quality, high return investments and to share her knowledge with other investors to rapidly increase their net worth.

Chris Charron, Executive Vice President Chris' main focus is to find the most lucrative investments to present to our clients, through extensive investigation and analysis, site visits and other methods of ensuring due diligence. He has extensive experience in real estate development, construction and property management. His career path includes credit and finance, management consulting, accounting and director to a number of private corporations. Chris holds an MBA from the University of Calgary and designations in credit, finance and accounting. His experience and education has been invaluable in finding those 'diamonds in the rough' investments that, when the clients choose the right investment for them, can quickly grow their net worth.

Special Note: While we spend hours reviewing and analyzing investment opportunities and review information about the people behind the investment, we cannot guarantee the outcome for any investment. Variables out of our control, such as market conditions and unanticipated behaviours of individuals managing the investments, are factors that we cannot predict nor do we make any claims to control.
